Are we there yet?

Milestones are the markers that tell us where we are and how far we have to go. They help us take stock of the journey. For those of us traveling with children, they help answer the inevitable question from the backseat; “Are we there yet?”

Last year, the Lutheran Community Foundation passed the 10-year milestone. As we move beyond this marker, we are inspired to ask, “Are we there yet?” Two responses emerge: first, we are there every day, and second, we will never finally be there. This is to say that our journey as donors, stewards and as the faithful is about engagement and process, not about the arrival. We find our joy not as a destination or as a finished product, but in what we discover and create along the way.

In 2006, we used our tenth anniversary as a platform to assess our progress and determine how best to continue our journey. Changes included the selection of a new investment advisor, Cambridge Associates, to guide the Foundation’s investment portfolio. We also brought to conclusion a two-year process that completely overhauled the Foundation’s technology systems to integrate data and improve access of information for donors, charities and employees. We also created the enclosed brochure, Your Partner in Giving, to share our mission and vision with the community as part of our communications redesign project. Our unrestricted funds continued to grow as did programs for donors to come together with a collective voice and cohesive strategies to address such issues as domestic violence, disaster relief, immigration and an aging populace.

But it is the markers left by individual donors that continue to help us chart our course. Their stories reflect our roots and determine our future. Given the ambition of these stories, we are in the midst of what will be a long and fruitful journey.

So, are we there yet? The answer, though perhaps not quite so satisfying to the child in the backseat, is that we are well on our way.

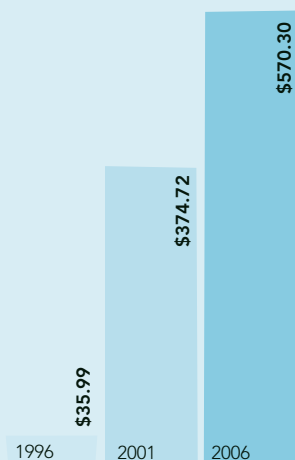

CHRIS ANDERSEN
President and Executive Director

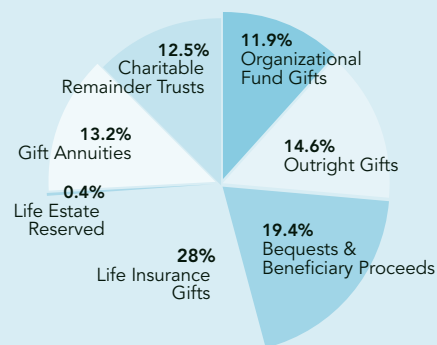

Since its founding in 1995, the Lutheran Community Foundation has built a proven track record of sound stewardship for gifts from thousands of donors. Each of these donor gifts is carefully managed, providing vital support to diverse charities throughout our community.

The Foundation experienced another year of growth in gifts received and grants to the community in 2006. It is the Foundation's privilege to serve as steward of all gifts, ensuring that each donor gift and grant spreads joy and changes lives.

GIFTS AND DONOR SERVICES

- The Lutheran Community Foundation earned Charity Navigator's four-star rating for sound fiscal management. Less than a quarter of all charities receive this top rating from Charity Navigator, the leading charity evaluator in the U.S.
- Lutheran Community Foundation assets grew to more than $189 million in 2006, a 16.6% increase over last year.
- New donors created 229 charitable funds at the Foundation in 2006, and hundreds of existing donors made additional gifts to their funds.
- Charitable gift annuities remain one of the Foundation's top giving options among donors—91 of the 280 gifts made in 2006 were in the form of a gift annuity.
- The Pension Protection Act of 2006 made it possible for individuals (70½+) with IRAs to make direct transfers from such plans to organizational funds and unrestricted funds of the Foundation without having to take such distributions into their taxable income.
- Throughout 2006, the Foundation's Growth Portfolio maintained its target allocation of 70% stocks and 30% bonds. This diversified portfolio of large and small U.S. stocks, international stocks and bonds returned 11.8% for the year, outperforming blended benchmark indices with its two and three-year returns.
- The Foundation named Cambridge Associates, the leading investment consulting group for nonprofits nationally, as its new investment advisor effective January of 2007.

GRANTS AND COMMUNITY INITIATIVES

- The number of charities recommended to benefit from charitable funds at the Foundation grew to 4,366 in 2006. The 2005 total was 3,993.
- More than 1,400 grants totaling $8.1 million were distributed from Foundation funds to the community in 2006.
- Grants distributed in 2006 reflected a slight increase in number of grants supporting environmental concerns and health services.
- Lutheran congregations remain one of the top recommended charities of donors. Nearly one-third of all grants distributed in 2006 were to Lutheran congregations.
- The Foundation continued to support Lutheran Advocates for Safe Families, an outgrowth of the Foundation's domestic violence and child abuse initiative.
- In late 2006, the Foundation began plans for grantmaking from the Foundation's unrestricted funds based on Board-approved criteria and minimums. It is through the LCF Community Fund that the Foundation addresses pressing and unmet needs in the community. Specific community needs or issues, such as disaster response, scholarships and Lutheran church body support, are addressed through its eight Field of Interest Funds. Donor gifts to these funds are joined with other donor gifts to accomplish what cannot be done alone.

CHARITABLE FUNDS OF THE FOUNDATION

Through the Lutheran Community Foundation, donors give in ways that reflect their values and interests. In 2006, 229 individuals, families and organizations created new charitable funds at the Foundation—each fund benefiting specific charities and causes that serve our community. We welcome these new donors and charitable funds, and we also thank those who gave to one of the Foundation’s unrestricted funds in 2006. It is through the Foundation’s unrestricted funds that donors address pressing and unmet community needs.

In this annual report, we share the names of charitable funds created in 2006, as well as gifts to the LCF unrestricted funds. A complete list of charitable funds of the Foundation is available on the Foundation’s website at www.TheLCF.org/2006funds.
